Enterprise Aurora developments

The Aurora team continues to release new updates. Some of the more recent additions to the feature set include:

- Adding a social component into a digital story: just copy & paste the link from the social post into your story in the Content Station editor. DEMO
- Changing your story preview in Content Station to incorporate your brand's look and feel. DEMO

Partnership with SPRYLAB to advance mobile content creation and publishing

SPRYLAB's Purple DS mobile app creation software is now integrated with WoodWing Enterprise. With this integration, publishers can create their content directly in Enterprise's Content Station and publish stories easily to their mobile app. No technical skills required.

The importance of visual storytelling

Whilst the written word lays a strong foundation for context, visuals are what gives a story its true depth of field. Visual storytelling presents publishers with an opportunity to expand their storytelling forms and establish themselves as media players with a mix of journalistic forms. Here's what's needed to be successful.
